

SATURDAY, MARCH 30, 1935

Well - well - the Princess Barbara Hutton Mdivani arrived in Reno about 8:00 this morning. The 5 & 10 heiress is supposed to have between 40 and 50 million dollars. She will occupy the home of George Thatcher. Thatcher and Woodburn have the case - and what a case. The fee will probably be between $15,000 and $20,000. Lord - will I ever have a case like that? The day was quite usual -- but the evening was a grand spell of hours. Tom Bracking came to my office about 9:00 (he probably desired to make sure I was not going out with his lady friend). I invited him to go to the Tavern stag with me. We ran into Mrs. Belmont who was there with Mrs. A_____ and her gentleman friend. I told her that friend Bracking was feeling low and needed cheer - she promised to do her best - and she took him to town in a big way. Sybil Smith was there with 3 other women -- she and I suddenly desired other company so out the front door went little Clel - and - well the rest of this story should not be written in any man's diary - but it is enough to say that I went to a certain Apt. house, knocked on a certain door - a certain lady got up - got dressed and we went places in a big way. 'Tis a grand thing to live!
